Rep. Giuliano Appointed to General Assembly's Environment, Education Committees

State Representative Marilyn Giuliano, R-23rd District, has been appointed to the Connecticut General Assembly's Environment and Education committees, House Minority Leader Robert M. Ward, R- 86th District, announced today.

"Representative Giuliano is committed to protecting Long Island Sound. She understands that the Sound's ecology is fragile and easily damaged. During her first term in the state House, Representative Giuliano worked tirelessly to protect the Sound as an aquatic habitat and as a recreational and commercial asset critical to the economy of the shore region. She served with distinction on the Environment Committee for the past two years and will continue to do so during the 2005 and 2006 legislative sessions," Representative Ward said.

"As a parent and an educator, Representative Giuliano is committed to ensuring a quality education for every Connecticut student. As an education professional with more than 25 years of experience, she brings a wealth of background, experience and knowledge to this committee. I believe she will make a valuable contribution to the work of the Education Committee and to the future of Connecticut's young people," Representative Ward said.

"I believe the effectiveness of Connecticut's public schools is best demonstrated by the success of its students after they graduate. To meet that goal, our schools must do everything possible to ensure students not only master basic skills but also know how to apply them if they are to succeed in their adult careers and become productive citizens," Representative Giuliano said.
